Senior consultancy, global expertise and robust project management to transform your investment management business

Driving transformation is difficult, especially when it's "all hands on deck" to run your business. As a business leader, you need to focus and extend your in-house resources and expertise without breaking the bank or letting daily operations falter. Finding trusted partners is hard; many consultancies are either too big to provide the focus you deserve, or too limited to deliver truly end-to-end solutions.

At Linedata, we're the right size to meet your needs. Our senior consultants will help you define and deliver the right technology strategy for your business. From application selection to project management and implementation, we bridge the knowledge gap between your business and technology teams.

We'll help you achieve speed and scale, build trust, mitigate fear of change and maximize project success and ROI.

Make us your "go to" team to achieve success!

Linedata Advisory Services helps investment firms transform their operations to achieve business success.

We provide robust consulting and staff augmentation covering executive IT, project management, business analysis and program implementation.

Our team of experts will address your knowledge and leadership gaps while providing the scale and leverage needed to achieve your "change-the-business" objectives.

CTOs / CIOs / PMO

Complete projects faster with lower risk. Our consultants provide executive IT, project management, business analysis and implementation leadership and delivery so your organization can focus on core activities and maximize overall project value and ROI.
