Linedata Longview Order Management and Trading (OMS)

Reimagine your operations. Transform how you do business. Get more out of your day with optimized investment operations

How does your team manage the complexity of today's investment operations? If pressures in the form of new products and strategies, larger numbers of portfolios, and growing investor demands sound familiar, Linedata can help.

Everything about Linedata's OMS and Trading Solution is designed to streamline and simplify investment activities and open up time to focus on growing your business.

Our modular platform combines two decades of battle-tested buyside experience with a configurable toolset, automated workflows, and remote access dashboards that alert you and enable action in real time for core functions like rebalancing and trade approvals, individual client views and time sensitive opportunities.

The Linedata difference

- We are buyside experts with 20 years of partnering with over 300 global clients, helping transform their investment operations.
- We give you the advantage of working with an independent, global partner who is not owned by a ratings agency or bank.
- Our approach is as flexible as our technology we understand that adaptability and expert support is paramount.

"Linedata's offering is perfect for us because its high-performance, customizable platform gives our company the flexibility and scalability to meet the growing needs of our customers."
